Asbestos found at Jennison site

By Bob Slate
Staff writer

Yet another hazardous substance has been found on the former Jennison-Wright property in Granite City.

According to Virginia Wood of the Illinois Environmental Protection Agency, asbestos is present on the site.

"Just because there is asbestos present doesn't mean it is dangerous," Wood said.

"Certain sizes are more dangerous than others ... We are in the process of evaluating (the hazard) right now," Wood said.

Wood said the IEPA believes that the asbestos was disturbed late last year, when a bankruptcy court ordered salvaging of material from the site in order to get as much money as possible for bankruptcy disbursement.

Jennison-Wright obtained a razing permit from the city in October 1990, and began removing some hazardous materials and dilapidated structures from the site. But the work soon halted.

"We think that, when the salvagers went on site (in late 1990), they failed to take the asbestos when they were salvaging pipe," Wood said, adding that the IEPA did not yet have control over the property during the salvaging process.

Tom Long, senior toxicologist for the Illinois Department of Public Health, said the disturbance of the asbestos "should never have taken place."

He said he thought IEPA had already taken control of the property when the demolition and recovery took place.

"It is an unfortunate situation," Long said. "The potential health problems were already there, with the soil contamination, but that was relatively confined to the site."

"But asbestos is free to blow and roam, so there is a further health hazard."

Wood said the asbestos is probably not an immediate hazard, because wet weather will keep the smaller particles from becoming airborne and spreading.

Gail Kindle gives Danny Ferguson a hug just outside the school cafeteria where Danny began to choke during lunch Wednesday.

Secretary saves choking boy

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

Gail Kindle was well trained in using the Heimlich maneuver years ago, but she'd never had to test her training and reflexes until last week.

Kindle, school secretary at Frohardt Elementary School, was leaving her office about lunch time Tuesday, Nov. 12, when a small boy came walking toward her in the hallway, pointing at his throat.

Danny Ferguson, 8, was choking and was heading toward the nurse's office when Kindle saw him.

"I grabbed hold of him and did the Heimlich. I pumped him twice and part of his lunch dislodged and came out," she said. The food dislodged was a 2-inch chunk of meat.

Danny had been eating lunch in the school cafeteria when the food stuck in his throat. He had tried to cough out the food when it lodged and he also tried drinking some water, he said.

Neither course of action helped and the boy was having difficulty breathing when he was seen by Kindle.

Noeth won in 32 of 53 precincts

By Mike Myers
Staff writer

Based on the precinct vote totals, Granite City School District residents took full advantage of the choices afforded them by having 11 school board candidates on the ballot.

A total of 5,540 ballots was cast in the election, according to Madison County Clerk Evelyn Bowles. Three candidates were elected to the board for four-year terms.

Jim Noeth, the leading vote-getter overall with 2,374, was the top vote-getter in 32 of the 53 precincts. In only 10 of those precincts, however, was Noeth named on at least half of the ballots cast.

The other two members elected, Jeff Parker (1,906 total votes) and Carolyn Nemeth (1,978 total votes), each had the most votes in six precincts and each was named on at least half the ballots in one of the precincts they won.

Other candidates who led precincts were Rick Dickerson and Bob Bell, with four each, and Kerry Ervay with one.

Man acquitted in police attack

A Madison County jury has found a Granite City man not guilty of resisting arrest, but acquitted him of attacking a city police officer.

Sentencing was not set for Jerry L. Sutt, whose case, heard by Associate Judge J. Lawrence Keshner, ended Thursday. Sutt had been charged Jan. 10 with resisting a peace officer and aggravated battery.

Mark Von Nida, an administrative assistant to State's Attorney William Haine, said that Assistant State's Attorney Rob Elowitz got what could be expected from the case. Von Nida said that it was difficult to convince the jury of a battery charge because the officer had suffered only a minor injury.

"Even so, the law lays out striking a police officer during the performance of his duty as an offense," Von Nida said. "We can't have people going around beating up cops."

Suit started Cahokia man's life downward

By Jeffrey Peyton
Staff writer

He thought he was standing up for his civil rights. But filing a suit against Granite City Steel has turned out to be the catalyst for a downward spiral James Taylor has yet to turn around.

Taylor was fired from Granite City Steel in May 1990 after he filed a complaint with the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Since then, he says he has lost his van, his camper and his home, and he has been unable to get another job paying anywhere near what he was making at Granite City Steel before his discharge.

Taylor's complaint with the EEOC alleged that he had been denied promotions because he is black. Taylor said he had worked at the company for 18 years without ever getting a promotion.

Bob Maxwell, a spokesman for the company, declined to comment on the case Monday.

Taylor said the company also appealed his unemployment after firing him. "My first unemployment check finally came — in April 1991."

Taylor's vehicle, camper and home were all financed through the GC Steel Credit Union, which foreclosed on his home and repossessed his camper and van.

"I wanted to work with them in any way possible," Taylor said. "I was buying that house. I built additions onto that house. And they got it back for practically nothing."

Taylor said both family and friends attempted to take over payments for him — without success.

DCI probing bridge robbery

The Illinois State Police Division of Criminal Investigation is being asked to look into a reported armed robbery at a McKinley Bridge toll booth Wednesday night.

Venice police said toll booth operator George Wilson reported being robbed of approximately $300 at gunpoint at 6:47 p.m. Nov. 13.

The incident is the third theft or robbery in about a year at the bridge.

On Nov. 2, 1990, Wilson reported being robbed at gunpoint. Two days prior to that, about $500 was taken from a booth when Wilson left it after a power failure caused the lights to go out, police said.

Wilson, 45, of the 1000 block of Bissell Street, was collecting tolls in an eastbound lane Wednesday when a man in a green hooded jacket, gray pants, tennis shoes and a red cap robbed him of $300 at gunpoint, Wilson said.

The robber then ran through a field behind the bridge office on Main Street.

Venice school tax levy rising

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

A $602,000 tax levy for 1991 was adopted by the Venice Board of Education after a public hearing Thursday night.

The 1991 levy for 1992 collection is $38,000 higher than last year's levy and is expected to raise the property tax rate slightly, said Michael R. Bilbrey, board attorney.

The increase represents a $35,000 levy for the Illinois Municipal Retirement Fund and a $3,000 levy for workman's compensation.

Neither IMRF nor compensation was included in the 1990 tax levy on the advice of Interim Superintendent of Schools Robert Vickers.

"This year we do not have this kind of money in the funds," Superintendent of Schools John Rush explained.

"You don't get all that you levy and we are (See LEVY, Page 10A)

2 assail party's process

Two candidates blasted the endorsement process after Democratic leaders threw support to Matt Melucci in the race for Madison County circuit clerk.

The party's executive committee on Wednesday endorsed Melucci of Collinsville over Fred Perry of Glen Carbon and Don Bridick of Granite City.

Perry and Bridick vowed to stay in the race.

The committee made its choices after meeting privately with the candidates.

The three are seeking to succeed eight-term Circuit Clerk Willard "Butch" Portell, 74, of Collinsville.

Portell had said he would retire if the committee backed Melucci.

The committee will select the party's candidate for November 1992 in the March primary election.

Suspect escapes station window

Man dives out station window

A 21-year-old Venice man, wanted by the U.S. Navy for desertion, managed to escape from Venice police headquarters Wednesday afternoon after being arrested.

According to a police report, Andre Brawley of the 900 block of College Street was seen driving a late-model gray Lincoln into the station at 3:45 p.m. Nov. 13. He was arrested at Adam's Market, 1001 Logan St., and was taken to the Venice police station.

But while being processed, as an officer was hanging up Brawley's coat, police headquarters managed to run toward the front of the station and dive out a window.

An officer chased Brawley on foot to the 1300 block of Oriole Street, where he lost sight of Brawley and ended the pursuit.

Officers then requested that Andy's Auto Body and Towing tow the Lincoln away, but Chief James Bennett canceled the request because Mayor Tyrone Echols didn't want the car towed, a police report says. Asked why the vehicle wasn't towed, Bennett said it belonged to Brawley's mother.

"Why should she suffer?" Bennett asked.

Police log

DUI alleged

Mark A. Uhlemeyer, 31, of the 2400 block of Missouri Avenue, was arrested at 12:30 a.m. Nov. 10 and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

According to a police report, Uhlemeyer was stopped in the 3000 block of Madison Avenue for an alleged traffic violation on Nameoki Road. He allegedly refused to answer questions when asked by an officer, and refused to submit to a Breathalyzer test.

He was released after posting his drivers license and $102 cash bail.

Two charges

Ronald Alan Marks, 26, of the 1200 block of Riti Lane, was arrested at 12:13 a.m. Nov. 10 and charged with improper lane usage and driving under the influence of alcohol.

An officer reported observing Marks' red 1978 Ford F150 pickup truck weaving on Rock Road. At one point, two of the truck's wheels left the road, and the officer had to pull to the curb to avoid being struck, according to the report.

Marks surrendered his drivers license, and was lodged pending $102 cash bail.

DUI arrest

Thomas W. Batey Sr., 48, of the 2500 block of East 27th Street, was arrested near Kirkpatrick Homes at 2:38 a.m. Nov. 10 and charged with driving under the influence of alcohol.

Robbery

Madison police responded to assist Venice officers, but the man could not be located.

Wilson told police the man had pointed the gun at him and started taking cash. But when Wilson noticed that the weapon was a BB gun, he wrestled with the robber, took the weapon away, and hit the robber over the head with it. The man then fled.

The gun was later found by an

under the influence of alcohol. He was lodged pending $102 cash bail.

Dispute at clinic

Patty L. Keep, 24, of Greenville, and Michael Soren, 23, of St. Louis, were both arrested at 9:07 a.m. Nov. 9 and each charged with battery.

Keep told police that Soren, an employee of the Hope Clinic For Women, Ltd., 1602 21st St., elbowed her while she was near the facility protesting abortion.

Soren said Keep initiated the confrontation. Witnesses gave conflicting accounts of the incident, and Keep and Soren were allowed to sign complaints against each other.

Two arrested

Edward L. Hayes, 26, of the 1700 block of Cleveland Boulevard, was arrested at his home at 12:07 a.m. Nov. 12 and charged with battery. Tracy M. Chung, 21, of the 2400 block of Madison Avenue, was arrested at the same time and location on four outstanding warrants.

Chung told police Hayes, her brother, hit her in the face several times with his fist, and struck her on top of the head with a crock pot. She said she grabbed a knife and cut his right forearm while he held her.

officer in the field through which the robber had fled, according to a police report. But Chief James Bennett said the report is wrong, and that Wilson handed the gun over to police.

A bridge employee on duty at the time of the incident was questioned by police because his clothing matched Wilson's description of the robber. But the employee is not a suspect, police said.

Hayes refused treatment for the laceration, and did not want to pursue criminal charges against Chung. He was lodged on a state complaint of battery signed by Chung.

Police discovered four outstanding warrants, charging Chung with resisting a peace officer, disorderly conduct, and two counts of battery. She was lodged pending bail.

Truck stolen

Carol J. Richie, 39, of the 1800 block of Spring, reported that her blue 1976 Ford F350 pickup truck was stolen from the parking lot at Schnuck's, where she is employed, sometime between 1 and 3 p.m. Nov. 11.

Truck stolen

Steve Oberg, an employee of Novotny Chevrolet, 3499 Progress Parkway, told police a maroon and gray 1992 Chevrolet S10 Blazer valued at $19,978 was taken from the car dealership's lot between 5 p.m. Nov. 9 and 8:15 a.m. Nov. 11.

A police report noted the presence of glass on the lot, evidence that a window was apparently broken to gain entry to the vehicle.

Knights burglarized

Gary Mann, a custodian at the Knights of Columbus Hall, 4225 Old Alton Road, told police an estimated $5,750 was taken from the building sometime prior to 6 a.m. Nov. 11.

Mann told police he discovered an open window on the building when he reported to work at 4:30 a.m. Telephone wires to the building were cut, disabling the alarm system, according to a police report.

Venice officials concerned about early jail release plan

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

Madison County law enforcement officials have been invited to attend a Venice City Council meeting Tuesday to explain the proposed pre-trial prisoner release program.

County Board Member Don Garrett reviewed the proposal at the Nov. 5 meeting of the City Council.

Most defendants charged with a crime could be released under the program, which would feature intensive supervision, lots of background investigation, house detention and electronic bracelets, he said.

"When it came before the (county) board I questioned it and said a lot of residents in my district believe the courts are being too lenient with the criminals now," Garrett said.

"This program could have a big impact on Venice," he added. The program is designed to allow the release of 50 County Jail inmates under strict supervision while they await trial.

Garrett said the County Board's Judiciary Committee had met that day with the chief circuit court judge, Paul Riley, and Madison County Sheriff Bob Churchill and Bob Astorian, head of Madison County Probation and Court Services, among others. The main purpose of the early release program is to relieve overcrowding at the County Jail, Garrett said. "This is an alternative program to deal with this problem."

Garrett quoted Churchill as saying he had 154 prisoners in the jail that day and that "every one deserved to be there."

"The sheriff has a different point of view and didn't think it (the program) would relieve the overcrowded jail problems," Garrett said.

If approved, the pre-trial release program could have a major impact on Venice and on what could happen in the future with crime problems, Garrett said.

The proposed county governmental budget for fiscal 1992 (starting Dec. 1, 1991) includes $177,900 for the release program, Garrett said.

He suggested asking Astorian, Churchill and State's Attorney Bill Haine to a Venice council meeting to hear their views on the proposal.

"You have our permission to bring them here," Mayor Tyrone Echols said.

Garrett commended Venice Police Chief James Bennett and members of the Venice Police Department "for doing a very commendable job with the problem we have here."

Docket-clearing effort successful; tougher cases — and trials — loom

More criminals than usual may be tried in Madison County courts in coming months because of a concerted effort to clear a jammed felony docket.

The hundreds of cases weeded out of the court system through plea agreements in past months have left, however, more complicated cases for lawyers to tackle.

Most of the water has been squeezed out of the docket," Public Defender John Rekowski said.

According to Circuit Judge Edward C. Ferguson, "There will be more trials in the next couple of months." Court officials attacked a burgeoning backlog of cases one week in July and again in August. About 224 cases were resolved in the first week and 65 in the second.

About 230 cases remain on the docket.

The backlog is dwindling, Ferguson said, because attorneys have reached agreements in clear-cut cases.

Generally, the judge said, continued cases are taken care of within 60 days.

"We've had good cooperation from the attorneys involved," Ferguson said.

Madison County State's Attorney William Haine said resolved cases have gone favorably for prosecutors. "We've been getting good sentences. We just have to keep this up and improve it," Haine said.

Rekowski also said the disposition of recent cases has been agreeable.

The Madison County Jail, over capacity most of the summer, now holds a large number of people awaiting sentencing, Ferguson said.

Before, he added, it was packed with people awaiting trials.

"The system is working," Haine said.

Pontoon approves annexation

By Valerie Evenden
Staff writer

Annexation of three-quarters of an acre of land at 3516 Lake Drive and an addition to Lakeview Restaurant were approved by the Pontoon Beach Village Board of Trustees at Tuesday night's meeting.

The annexed property, located near Illinois 162 and next to Gateway Stables, is contiguous to the village limits.

Evelyn Ringering owns the property that was brought into the village. It is zoned agricultural with recognition of a special use permit to house two horses at the residence for the owner's personal use.

Lin Spicer, owner of Lakeview Restaurant, 4112 Pontoon Road, said he plans to construct a 14-by-24-foot addition to his building by adding two walls and eliminating two walkways from the kitchen area. The addition will double the size of the kitchen, he said.

Although the building permit was approved, the construction work still is subject to inspection by the building inspector, Trustee Bob Douglas reminded Spicer.

Trustee Marvin Ribbing questioned the condition of the restaurant's roof and was informed by Spicer that the roof is in good shape and that a previous leak had been repaired.

Questions arising from whether the board could authorize payment of bills for the Pontoon Beach Free Public Library again were asked.

A legal opinion on the matter had been requested from Village Attorney Keith Jensen.

Due to illness, Jensen was not present at the meeting.

Douglas said he was told by the attorney that payment of bills for the library was at the discretion of the board. The board had asked for a written legal opinion.

Trustee Louis Whitsell questioned the legality of paying library bills without a written opinion.

Questions about a clause in the ordinance establishing the free library and the village's responsibility for funding it have been raised at several meetings.

"It's (the ordinance) ambiguous to me," said Trustee Lorn Madison, who was serving as mayor pro tem Tuesday night.

"I think we should forget it until we get a legal opinion," Ribbing said.

"I'd like the board to consider hiring Mr. Dean Sweet as attorney," he added.

"I second that," Trustee Irene Karlechik said.

"I don't think you can do that, as the mayor appoints the attorney," Whitsell said.

"I'd rather handle this in a gentlemanly manner but if this continues ... Why can't he (Jensen) just send it (the opinion) if he had it?" Madison asked.

"I can go pick it up tomorrow," Douglas offered.

Police agencies ready to begin seat belt crackdown

State and local police are getting ready to belt motorists with tickets for not buckling up. Illinois State Police are launching a three-week crackdown on seat belt violators that could almost double the average number of seatbelt tickets written each month.

"We're upping the ante, and we're increasing the risk of receiving a citation," State Police Director Terrance Gainer said.

The crackdown will begin today, Sunday, and end Dec. 7.

The blitz is aimed at preventing injuries and saving lives, said Lt. Bill Reckman, field operations officer for State Police District 11 in Collinsville and Trooper Robert Jones, the public information officer for the State Police District 18 in Litchfield.

"We're going to support it vigorously in the field," Jones said. "But hopefully it will be a voluntary thing. We want to see people buckle up and don't want to issue tickets unless we have to."

"We expect all of our officers to take part in this," Reckman said. "I'll be out, the captain will be out, we're hoping for administrative officers to get out at least two hours a day."

Madison County sheriff's deputies have been directed to charge drivers with seat belt violations in conjunction with other traffic stops, according to Capt. Jack Fields. Some deputies have not always done so in the past, he said.

The State Police were already cranking up the public relations end of the campaign last week, Reckman said. Signs on I-255 on Thursday asked motorists if they were buckled up, and reminded them to "click it or ticket."

During the second and third week of the program, there will be roadside safety checks throughout District 11, Reckman said. And while the law does not allow police to pull a motorist over just for failing to wear a safety belt, police can issue tickets for seatbelt violations "at safety checks."

The State Police's Gainer estimated that about 50 percent of drivers statewide buckle up. Gainer said State Police have been giving about 11,000 tickets a month to adults who aren't buckled up or who don't have their children secured. More than 20,000 people are expected to get tickets during the enforcement crackdown.

Troopers will be allowed to issue warnings in the first two weeks of the crackdown, but in the final week, violators must be given tickets, Gainer said. The stricter enforcement may become permanent policy if it shows results during this crackdown.

Old Newsboys volunteers start long before Nov. 21

By Jean Abernathy
Correspondent

Putting together 8,000 Old Newsboys Day volunteer kits is a mammoth undertaking. But thanks to a group of dedicated volunteers who take on this chore, kits with the necessary Old Newsboy Day paraphernalia are packed for each and every volunteer who hits the street Thursday to peddle the special edition of the Suburban Journals.

This process started in early October when volunteers from Camp Happy Day and the Parkview and St. Louis apartments in St. Louis folded together yellow identification badges and the 8,000 bright orange Old Newsboys Day aprons that are being delivered to the volunteers who will hawk the papers.

Jane Mitchell, Hanneken of Camp Happy Day always is willing to help with this task. "It is just one way that we are able to help Old Newsboys Day," she said. "Old Newsboys Day grants help us."

Camp Happy Day volunteers also man 17 locations throughout the St. Louis area on Old Newsboys Day. The volunteers are parents and friends of children who attend Camp Happy Day, a summer camp for children with learning disabilities that is held in the St. Louis Hills neighborhood of St. Louis.

Once the aprons are folded and the volunteer roster is complete, Paragon Group, a property maintenance company, takes over. For the fourth year, Bob Miklich and his team from Paragon packed the volunteer kits and prepared them for mailing. Each kit contains the apron and badge, a Hardee's coupon for a free sausage biscuit breakfast, certificate of appreciation, directions, a list of bank depositories and a deposit envelope as well as a card confirming the volunteer's location.

"When we first started doing this, people thought if they signed up to pack kits it would be like having a day off of work," Miklich said. "Some people thought they could spend the day visiting with their friends. After the first year, they said packing the kits was harder than work."

This year, more than 20 employees of Paragon, most with previous kit-packing experience, got the job done in a record four hours. Miklich runs a tight ship on kit-packing day, setting up an assembly-line process on which each worker has a specific specific job to do.

This year, besides donating the manpower to pack the kits, Paragon Group donated the space for the task at Landmark Place, Hwy. 40 and Brentwood Boulevard. Volunteers from Paragon also take to the streets on Old Newsboys Day, selling papers on more than 40 corners.

All volunteers already should have received their kits. Look for them Thursday morning, decked out in bright orange aprons as they hawk papers to raise money for the many local agencies that serve the area's needy children.

For several years volunteers from Camp Happy Day, along with RSVP Volunteers from Parkview and St. Louis apartments, have volunteered to fold the thousands of bright orange aprons used by volunteers who peddle the special edition of the Suburban Journals on Old Newsboys Day. The Camp Happy Day board members shown here loading folded aprons are, from left, Juanita Murphy, Joan Ogden, Rita Houghasian and Jane Brazier.

Glasper heads Venice board

The Venice School District 3 Board of Education elected new officers at a special reorganizational meeting Tuesday night. Wilbert Glasper and Alvester Salmond were re-elected president and vice president of the board, respectively. Janet Wiley was elected board secretary, replacing outgoing secretary Gregory Katana. Phillip White was elected board treasurer. School District 3 elects a new board secretary each year. The president, vice president and treasurer serve in those capacities for two-year terms. Michael Bilbrey, of the law firm of Bono, Goldenberg, Hopkins and Bilbrey, P.C., was retained as the board's attorney.

The election of officers followed a canvass and certification of the results of the Nov. 5 election, where incumbents Glasper, Katana and Wiley were all re-elected, with totals of 113, 80 and 110 votes, respectively. Carolyn "Pam" Wilson, with a total of 51 votes, failed in her bid to take a seat on the board. Glasper, Wiley and Katana all expressed a desire to thank district residents who voted for them. In other board actions, First National Bank in Madison was designated as the depository for district funds, and regular meeting dates and times, the second and fourth Thursday of each month at 7 p.m., were established.

Survey finds risky behavior among high school freshmen

A survey of 4,500 high school freshmen in Illinois found unhealthy or high-risk behaviors, including drinking, smoking, using drugs, engaging in sex or not eating right, even attempting suicide.

For example, more than half the ninth-grade boys and more than a third of the girls in the survey said they had engaged in intercourse, and 41 percent said they did not use birth control the first time. Of those who had been sexually active, 71 percent had two or more partners. Of that group, 35 percent did not use contraceptives.

The survey found 60 percent of the teens did not know condoms were effective in preventing sexually transmitted diseases and only about half knew the common early signs of the diseases.

Blanca Staveley, school psychologist for the Bethalto School District, said the types of risky behavior reported by 14- and 15-year-olds in the statewide survey were similar to those in the River Bend area. She added the survey illustrated the need for more treatment and prevention programs.

Staveley, who has also worked in the East Alton-Wood River District, added that alcohol and drug abuse have become evident in the schools at earlier and earlier ages.

The survey, distributed at 38 high schools around the state last spring, was the first of its kind in Illinois.

The names and locations of the schools are being kept confidential, but they represented a cross-section of geographical and urban and rural areas, said Illinois Department of Public Health spokesman Tom Schafer. He said the results were generally consistent with a national survey.

The state survey, which asked 106 questions, was jointly sponsored by the Department of Public Health, the State Board of Education and the state Department of Alcohol and Substance Abuse.

State health director Dr. John Lumpkin said the results emphasized the need for educational programs.

Staveley said that while there has been more emphasis on warning of alcohol and drug abuse and the risk of AIDS and other sexually transmitted diseases, schools could do more with "group counseling and support groups in other areas such as eating disorders."

According to the survey, 22 percent of the ninth-grade girls reported that someone had tried to force them to have sex when they did not want it. While the survey indicated a decline in other drug use, there has been little progress in combating use of alcohol and tobacco, noted Jim Long, director of the Department of Alcohol and Substance Abuse.

More than a third of the ninth-graders reported drinking binges three or more times during the previous year, and 10 percent said they had gotten drunk at least 20 times in the year.

During the previous year, 14 percent of the students said they had used marijuana, with the use of other drugs ranging from 9 percent for amphetamines to 3 percent cocaine and 1 percent heroin.

Fifty-nine percent of the freshmen reported they had tried cigarettes, and 21 percent smoked on a daily basis, while 12 percent said they had chewed tobacco in the past month.

The survey also disclosed that 12 percent said they had tried to commit suicide and one third said they had seriously thought about it.

Large numbers of teens also took risks in other areas; with 31 percent reporting they had been in a car with a drunken or drugged driver in the past month and 56 percent reporting they had not used a seat belt the last time they were in a vehicle.

Bond issue OK was rarity

The Edwardsville School District's successful working-cash bond issue Nov. 5 was a rare referendum winner in the state.

Just 30 of 74 bond and tax referendums before state voters passed, according to the Illinois Association of School Administrators.

Edwardsville voters approved issuing $4.5 million in working cash bonds by a 3,050-to-2,487 vote.

Working-cash bond referendums did better than other questions, such as building bond issues and tax rate increases. Four of five working-cash bond issues before voters passed.

Only 21 of 49 school tax rate increase proposals were approved by voters.

According to a recent study, 90 percent of American adults had their blood pressure taken at some time during the last month but fewer than five percent were monitoring their cholesterol level.

High blood cholesterol is one of the risk factors for developing heart disease. Elevated blood cholesterol levels can lead to early development of hardening of the arteries and coronary heart disease.

Coronary heart disease is the cause of almost 30 percent of the two million deaths in the United States each year.

The National Institute of Health recommends that all adults age 20 and over have their blood cholesterol levels checked, because the chances of developing heart disease increase in proportion to the amount the cholesterol is elevated.

By monitoring levels, an individual can take the steps necessary to lower cholesterol and the accompanying risk of developing heart disease, a spokesman said.

Variety of new books available at library

New titles available at the Granite City District Library, 2001 Delmar Ave., include:

"Motivating Today's Work Force: When the Carrot Can't Always Be Cash," by Lin Gresham. The book instructs business owners how to discover what motivates people and how to meet employee needs.

"Keeping Unusual Animals as Pets," by Jef Hewitt. The book details how to provide the right environment for unusual pets, including millipedes, Chinese emperor newts and rubber frogs.

"Women Without Children: The Reasons, the Rewards, the Regrets," by Susan S. Lang.

Based on interviews with more than 60 women, the book looks at the growing trend toward childlessness, and offers support for women who choose to remain childless.

"The Frugal Gourmet Celebrates Christmas," by Jeff Smith. The latest in a series by Smith, this time focuses on the traditions, lore, myths and recipes of the holiday.

"Act of Treason: The Role of J. Edgar Hoover in the Assassination of President Kennedy," by Mark North. North presents a case that Hoover, then director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, knew of a plot to assassinate the president in September 1962, and actually worked to assure the plan's success.

Free afternoon diabetes class offered

Kathy Haarmann will be teaching a free "Take Charge of Your Diabetes" class at St. Elizabeth Medical Center, 2100 Madison Ave., Granite City, on Wednesday, Nov. 20.

The class will be held from 1 p.m. to 4 p.m. in Pascal Hall on the ground floor of the medical center. The class will include a general overview of diabetes presented by a diabetes nurse educator. This will include symptoms, management, exercise, testing and complications of diabetes.

A registered dietitian will present nutrition information related to diabetes, including information on sweeteners, fiber, label reading and fast foods.

A pharmacist will speak on medications, including insulin and oral agents.

The class is free, but space is limited, so pre-registration is required. Persons can pre-register by calling 798-3201.

Other activities planned by SEMC during November include: Dr. Michael Rumelt will speak on "Eye Disease and the Diabetic" Tuesday, Nov. 26, at 7 p.m. in Pascal Hall.

Blood sugar screenings, cholesterol level checks and blood pressure tests will be offered on: — Wednesday, Nov. 20, from 2 p.m. to 7:30 p.m. in the Wellness Center, 2103 Iowa St., Granite City. Registration is required and can be done by calling 798-3201.

— Tuesday, Nov. 26, from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. at the Granite City Schnucks, 3405 Nameoki Road. No registration is required.

Plans are also being made to reinstitute the Diabetes Support Group at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

The group is designed to help those with diabetes, their families and friends. It can help individuals recently diagnosed with diabetes adapt to the disease and treatment regimen.

The group can also help individuals who have had diabetes for some time to learn about new treatments and techniques. Those interested in learning more may call 798-3201.

For more information on "Take Charge of Your Diabetes" or any of the other Diabetes Month activities, the SEMC Education Resources Department can be called at 798-3201.

Haarmann said the national cost of medical care for diabetes is estimated at $14 billion per year.

According to Haarmann, there are 125,000 diabetics in the St. Louis metropolitan area. Nationwide, nearly one in every 20 Americans has diabetes.

Non-traditional scholarships offered

The Madison County Regional Vocational Education System has been awarded a grant to increase the number of students enrolled in non-traditional courses and ultimately placed in non-traditional careers.

The name of this grant is the Building Fairness Grant.

Females enrolled in industrial arts courses or agriculture courses, or males enrolled in health occupations courses or pursuing a career in the secretarial area, are taking courses that are considered to be non-traditional, by gender.

The long-term goal of this grant is to expand employment opportunities for both men and women, and to further provide young women with the opportunity of moving into a wider range of higher-paying jobs than they have traditionally held, in order to better support themselves and their families.

Non-traditional students are eligible for additional services and programs, offered through the Regional Vocational Education System.

These include field trips to potential employment sites or post-secondary training sites, "role model" presentations by current non-traditional workers in the community, and small-group discussions with other non-traditional students.

Through this grant, the Madison County Regional Vocational Education System is awarding 10 scholarships, of $400 each, to graduating seniors pursuing post-secondary training in a non-traditional career area.

Funds for this project are provided to Madison County through a grant from the Illinois State Board of Education.

Application forms for this scholarship are available to students from their school guidance counselors.

Applicants are instructed to return this form to their counselor by Feb. 5. Scholarships will be awarded by March 15.

Community members, employed in non-traditional jobs or training settings, are invited to participate in the Building Fairness Grant.

New flag is raised at Frohardt School.

Frohardt flag is replaced

On Wednesday, Oct. 23, the old flag from the front of Frohardt School was officially retired and replaced with a new, all-weather flag donated to the school by the Amvets Auxiliary Post 51

Mary Breese, Amvets president, and Mrs. Bonnie Leibold assisted in the presentation along with committee chairman Florence Stokes, Den Leader Denise Worthen and chartered representatives of Pack 15, Charles Stokes and Leroy Stark. The Frohardt School Color Guard, consisting of Justin Brinkmeyer, Jeff and John Ahlers and Ryan Moenster, presented the retired flag to Cindy Mills, Frohardt principal, who led the entire school in the Pledge of Allegiance following the raising of the new flag.

The event was organized by Ruth Noth, Frohardt Learning Center teacher. The new flag is permanently displayed due to the efforts of last year's sixth grade classes, who recycled aluminum cans in order to purchase the light. Approximately 575 students and visitors attended the ceremony.

"Taylor said he feels 'black listed' for daring to file a lawsuit against GC Steel. 'As soon as I put on the application that I worked for them, I know I won't get the job,' he said. 'But I worked there for two decades. I can't not put that down. How do you hide 20 years?'"

No court date has been set in Taylor's case. His attorney, Joseph Bartholomew, said the case was just now entering the "discovery" phase and that could take some time.

His unemployment runs out at month.

"I'm not homeless — yet," Taylor said. "But support and help from my family is about the only thing still keeping me going."

was arrested by Granite City police at 2:25 a.m. Jan. 10.

An officer reported observing Sutt drinking an alcoholic beverage while driving a red Cadillac Eldorado in a northbound lane of Madison Avenue near 23rd Street. The officer, Raymond Sutt, also alleged that Sutt made an obscene gesture as he passed the police car.

When the officer stopped the vehicle, Sutt allegedly ran back toward the officer, and attempted to strike the officer with his fist. A second man in the vehicle approached Takmajian from behind while he attempted to keep Sutt at bay.

recommending $602,000 for 1991," Bibrey said.

Comparing last year's tax extension with this year's levy is not a fair comparison, but that's what is required by law, he said.

The general and special purpose property taxes extended by the county clerk for 1990 were $465,407.

The proposed corporate and special purpose property taxes to be levied for 1991 are $567,000, not counting IMRF. The difference represents a 22 percent increase.

"The levy in 1990 for the education tax was $420,000, but that is not what we received," Bibrey said.

same man who had just become his supervisor two months earlier.

Taylor said he isn't looking to turn the lawsuit into a million-dollar windfall.

"I made $30,000 a year at GC Steel," he said. "I only had 12 years to retire. Even without a promotion or raise, at least I could have given my family a decent lifestyle."

"I've got a son in college and I can't even help him," he added.

No court date has been set in Taylor's case. His attorney, Joseph Bartholomew, said the case was just now entering the "discovery" phase and that could take some time.

His unemployment runs out at month.

"I'm not homeless — yet," Taylor said. "But support and help from my family is about the only thing still keeping me going."

Sutt allegedly threatened the officer's life and allegedly urged the passenger to help him "kill this pig," a police report said.

Several other officers were called to the scene for backup, and a struggle ensued.

Sutt was taken to St. Elizabeth Medical Center for treatment of head injuries, and police reports are sketchy regarding the details of the struggle, although the arresting officer reported that Sutt banged his head on the ground, which was covered with ice at the time.

The arresting officer also sustained injuries in the incident.

An open bottle of Corona beer was confiscated from the car, according to the police report.

$2.64 per $100 assessed valuation we received $343,000, compared to $420,000 levied.

In the operations, maintenance and buildings fund, the levy was $65,500 last year, but we got $56,300," the attorney said.

"Unless for some reason the assessed valuation in Venice skyrocketed, we can expect to get $65,000 (total) this year," Bibrey said.

The levies in all funds remain the same for last year, with the exception of the added $35,000 for the retirement fund and $300 for workman's compensation.

The property tax to be levied for debt service and public building commission less for 1991 is $20,685, the same amount as levied last year.

In the 24 precincts where more than 100 votes were cast, candidates were named on at least half the ballots only five times out of a possible 264.

Danny recovered quickly and went back to his third-grade classroom. His parents, Dale and Gail Ferguson, were notified.

Danny's mother came to the school to check on her son and said she'd feel better taking him home for the rest of the day, Kindel said.

Danny was back in school the next day and said he felt fine.

The third-grader also thanked his favorite secretary for sending her a bouquet of flowers.

Kindel learned the Heimlich maneuver as part of cardio pulmonary resuscitation (CPR) training she had taken while employed at St. Elizabeth Medical Center.

She was a unit manager at the mental center and had worked there for 16 years.

"Each year, you had to be recertified in CPR," Kindel said. The last time she had taken the training was five years ago.

"I've never had to use it before," she said.

The expertise gained through training was still there, however, allowing her to react quickly to the emergency.

This is Kindel's second year working as secretary at Frohman School and she is happy to be there.

Her colleagues at the school said they are proud of her. They alerted the Press-Scimitar Journal that the incident had occurred.

Gail Kindel and her husband, Richard, are the parents of an 18-year-old son, John.

Bob Ellison and Charlotte Hart, who will appear today in Venice.

Bob Ellison to appear here

The Madison Progressive Women's Club will present a "Delightful, Delovely, Unforgettable" concert and Fashion Show at 5 p.m. today (Sunday) at the Venice Senior Citizens Center at Brown and Klein streets.

The concert will feature baritone Bob Ellison with Charlotte Hart.

Ellison, a retired Air Force chief master sergeant, has performed as a guest soloist with both the St. Louis and Pittsburgh symphony orchestras and has appeared in productions of "Showboat," "Two Gentlemen of Verona" and "Godspell."

Ellison sang the National Anthem to open both the 1982 and 1985 World Series and was the featured soloist at the inauguration of Illinois Gov. Jim Edgar.

Hart, who will be performing with Ellison, said she has been singing the Gospel "for as long as I can remember." She said her greatest joy is seeing the love on the faces of her audience.

The theme of the fashion show is "My Favorite Things." The cost for the evening is $6 per person.

Frankie M. Griggs is the president of the Madison Progressive Women's Club and Ira Wilson, Crawford are the chairpersons for the event.

Asbestos

When asked if the material could have been spread during dry periods earlier this year, Wood said, "That would be getting into an area of speculation. I am not really sure ... but we don't want to speculate."

Wood said Site Manager Steve Davis is more familiar than her with the status of the Jenson-Wright project, but Davis was unavailable.

Long said he learned of the asbestos from Davis "a couple months ago," and that Davis said IEPA was strapped for cash and unable to address the problem immediately. But, Long said, it now appears IEPA will be able to act on the situation soon.

Mayfield Heights, Ohio-based Jenson-Wright filed for bankruptcy in November 1989.

The 26-acre former wood-treatment facility here was identified in 1983 as having become contaminated with creosote and other wood-treatment chemicals, including pentachlorophenol (PCP).

The IEPA received $448,800 from the company through the bankruptcy proceedings earlier this year. Those funds are being used to evaluate the level of contamination at the site, and to do any immediate remedial work determined to be necessary, Wood said.

She said a contractor has been selected to remove the asbestos from the site.

Davis told her about two weeks ago that he was on the verge of writing the "scope of work," but that the removal project could not begin until attorneys OK the process, she said.

Wood said the discovery of the asbestos is yet another reason for area residents to stay off the property.

The IEPA placed padlocks and warning signs on gates and fences at the West 22nd Street site in November of last year, and strengthened security at the site as recently as last month.

conducted by a show of hands, put undue pressure on some executive committee members.

"People should be allowed to vote their consciences without pressures being applied," Bricklick said. "They have jobs and families to protect."

A motion to have the vote by secret ballot was soundly defeated prior to the show of hands, Belfo said.

Melucci, a government consultant, is a former staff official for U.S. Rep. Jerry Costello. Bricklick is Madison County Courthouse security chief and Perry is a court bailiff.

In the only other contested endorsement, County Auditor Fred Bathon of Madison won over Terry Signorollo of Glen Carbon.

Bathon, 36, is seeking a second term as auditor.

State Attorney William Haine of Alton, Recorder of Deeds Dan Donohoo of Wood River and Coroner Dale Burke of Alton all were endorsed for new four-year terms.

Niedringhaus resumes 'Mail Call' program

The 1991 Christmas "Mail Call" is now under way at Niedringhaus School!

For the better part of two decades, through both crisis and calm, Military "Mail Call" has served as the clearinghouse to spread morale-boosting mail from concerned and supportive Americans to troops in as many places as possible.

The students at Niedringhaus School have participated in the program, under the direction of Linda Koenig, resource teacher at the school, for the past several years. Special recognition has been earned as a result of the tremendous volume of letters written by the students and staff.

Last year, Niedringhaus School ranked as the number five elementary school and number two PTA-sponsored program nationally. A letter was received recently at the school from Governor Jim Edgar, congratulating the students on their outstanding participation in the mail program and encouraging them to continue sending cards and letters.

The greetings are re-sorted into well over 1,000 bundles, varying in size from 25 or so to 4,000 plus cards and letters, which are then sent priority mail to units and locations all across the U.S. (more than 40 states) as well as in every corner of the globe.

The program's twin goals are to include mail from many people and places while spreading each person's greetings as widely as possible.

It works! A soldier reported that his unit was excited to find mail from 39 states in its bundle, and some participants have received responses from literally every continent.

To learn how to be a part of this year's program, send a first-class postage stamp along with your name and address, to:

Military "Mail Call!" P.O. Box 817, Christmas, Fla., 32709-0817, and mention where you read about this program.

Tammy LeVault
... set record for kills

Tammy LeVault, of Granite City has been named the 1991 Northern Illinois Intercollegiate Conference Volleyball Player of the Year.

LeVault, a senior middle hitter and a three-time All-NIIC selection at Aurora (Ill.) University, is a four-year varsity letterwinner at AU. She was also honored as her team's MVP as a senior as the Spartans completed the season with a 15-16 overall record (7-3 in the NIIC). LeVault was a team captain this year.

"Tammy had an outstanding senior season," said AU coach Betty Anderson. "She set a standard of excellence in the conference that was tough to beat. Tammy did it all for us this season, and I am very glad to see her effort being recognized by the conference coaches."

LeVault, a 1988 graduate of Granite City High School, led the conference with 219 kills in 35 games, including a record 34 in one game against Trinity College on Oct. 31. She broke her own previous record that night. LeVault also had 31 blocks and 114 digs in NIIC play. Overall, LeVault set a new school record with 524 kills (5.29 per game). She also had 99 total blocks, 398 digs and 18 service aces.

LeVault is a biology major and is a possible candidate for Academic All-American honors. She is the daughter of Marty and Linda LeVault of Granite City. Her brother, Scott, played baseball and football at AU. He graduated last spring. Tammy LeVault played volleyball and softball at GCHS.

Sona Bedenian, a junior outside hitter from Glenbrook South High School, also made the All-NIIC team from AU.

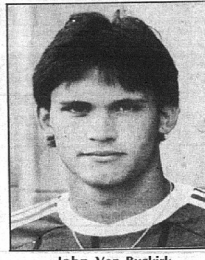

Aurora University is an NCAA Division III institution. The Spartans compete at the intercollegiate level in 10 sports.

John Van Buskirk of Granite City has been named to the All-Big Ten soccer team.

The sophomore midfielder at Indiana University scored two goals and added two assists for the Hoosiers, who won the first-ever Big Ten post-season tournament last week. Indiana is 17-2-2 and received a first-round bye in the NCAA Tournament, which began this weekend.

Van Buskirk, a high school All-American as a senior for the Warriors in 1989, was one of six Indiana players named to the first team. He is joined by Andre Luciano, Mike Anhaeuser, Brian Maisonneuve, Wayne Lobring and Todd Yeagley. Van Buskirk has played in all 21 games, starting 16. He scored a goal in the Hoosiers' 2-1 win over St. Louis University on Sept. 22 and also scored in a 4-2 win over Marquette on Oct. 27.

ton. Other teams in IU's regional are Old Dominion, Rutgers, Tulsa and SMU. The Hoosiers need to win two games to reach the NCAA Final Four in Tampa on Dec. 6-8.

Other teams receiving byes this weekend are Virginia (16-1), St. Louis U. (18-3) and UCLA (17-3).

IU coach Jerry Yeagley has a career record of 224-56-27 and has guided the Hoosiers to 15 post-season appearances, including eight trips to the Final Four and national titles in 1982, 1983 and 1988.

Indiana beat Penn State 4-2 in the Big Ten Semifinals on Nov. 9, then beat Wisconsin 2-0 in the title game Nov. 10. That avenged an earlier loss to the Badgers which ended IU's 68-game unbeaten streak in the Big Ten.

Indiana is fifth in the country in this year's Gatorade poll. They are first in the Great Lakes Region.

Youth football program makes successful return to town

By Dave Whaley
Staff writer

Good high school football players don't come out of nowhere.

Like any other sport, football depends on players getting an early start. That's beginning to happen again in Granite City. The Granite City Park District sponsored a flag football league this fall for the first time since 1978. The six-team league wrapped up its inaugural season Wednesday with the championship game between the Eagles and Evenson-Chiropractic.

The Eagles went undefeated through the regular season and also won the playoff championship. But all the teams, players, sponsors and coaches were winners.

"We've just had a lot of fun," said Joe Wallace, who helped get the league started along with Dr. Dave Dornbeck. "A lot of these kids didn't know much about the basics of the game when we started. But they have learned a lot. I appreciate everyone who has come out to help us."

The park district ended up spending more than $7,000 for the whole program, with almost exactly 100 kids in the program.

"We were right around 16 kids on each team," said Wallace, whose nephew Joe plays college baseball at Oklahoma State University. "We opened it up to fourth through sixth grades. We started out with fifth and sixth graders in mind, but the fourth graders really helped us."

A camp was held last year, then league play began this fall — two weeks late.

"The one thing that held us back was the equipment arrived late," said Wallace. "We wanted to get going at the end of September, but we had to wait a little. That won't happen next year. We'll have all the equipment (helmets, shoulder pads and mouthpieces) and we'll be ready to go. I hope we can have eight teams next fall."

In addition to the Eagles and Evenson, other teams were the Granite City Kiwanis, Teamsters Local 525, Granite Mechanical, Piping and a team co-sponsored by the Medicine Shoppe and Jeff Worthen. Wallace, Gary McIlvoy and Dave Reubhausen officiated the games, and donated their time.

"The park board did everything to accommodate us," said Wallace. "I couldn't see us asking to get paid to referee the games this year. The park was very good in getting us fields and letting us play under the lights. We started out at Wilson Park and then moved here (Worthen) after all the rain a couple weeks ago."

The success of the high school football team has helped spur interest in the sport, and getting kids started on the gridiron at a younger age can't hurt in the future.

"I'm sure the high school team helped us," said Wallace. "We want these kids to be able to watch them and maybe pick up some things. Last week, we moved our games from Wednesday to Thursday so they could watch the playoff game against East St. Louis."

"I would have liked to have seen the high school coaches come out and watch a little more. But as it turned out, we didn't really need them here to generate enthusiasm."

The league plays with nine-man teams, which Wallace feels will prepare the players when they start playing in junior high school.

"Nine-man sides give them a much better feel for the game than eight-man," he said.

With the park district paying for the equipment, the cost to each family with a child in the program was $20 ($25 for non-park district residents).

"There was a lot of legwork involved," said Wallace. "But it was worth it. A lot of these kids didn't even know about the line of scrimmage or how to get into a three-point stance when we got started. Now, we have some quality football being played."

"These kids were as green as grass when we started," said Ray Hoffman of the park district. "But we had a 20-19 playoff game the other night that was as exciting as they come."

Keene picks Illinois

By Jim Woodcock
Staff writer

University of Illinois basketball fans who have imagined Richard Keene someday wearing the Illinois uniform can rejoice today.

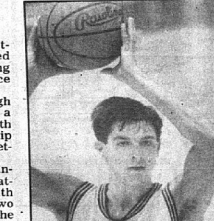

Keene, the Collinsville High School all-state senior, signed a letter of intent on Saturday with Illinois, accepting a scholarship to attend school and play basketball there.

The decision ends a long, frantic, coast-to-coast recruiting battle for Keene that last month finally dwindled down to two schools: Illinois and Duke, the defending NCAA basketball champion.

"I'm relieved," Keene said Friday. "I wanted to get it out of the way and start concentrating on our season here. But it's still not over. I know I'll be talking to reporters for about a month after that I'll feel a little more relieved."

"I tried to look at everything. I'm going to the school, but there are the players, the social life. It was all probably a little part."

"In the end I was just a little more comfortable with Illinois. Duke has a great program and I got along real well with coach K (Mike Krzyzewski). But I'll

Richard Keene
... hectic time over probably have a better chance of playing right away at Illinois."

Kahok coach Bob Bone was also relieved.

"I've said all along that I wanted Richard to go wherever was best for him, and I'm glad he's been able to make a decision," said Bone. "He's going to have a great career there. It will be good for high school basketball here and for our program that he's chosen Illinois."

Keene and Collinsville will visit Granite City on Feb. 7.

Park district honors several at annual fete

The Granite City Park District wrapped up the 1991 sports year Thursday with the 32nd Annual Sports Award Banquet at the Granite City Township Hall.

Steve Konkovich received the Appreciation Award, the highest honor bestowed by the park district each year. Konkovich has made many contributions to the park district, starting in 1971 when he, along with Amvets Post 51, helped donate an F-86F Thunderbolt jet. Fighter which is now located near Benton and Oregon Streets.

Konkovich has served as "watchdog" for the plane ever since, painting it periodically to keep it in top-notch condition. Konkovich, along with Joe Holder, raised more than $25,000 to honor each branch of the armed services.

Three others were honored with awards for their efforts in giving Granite City youth and adults the opportunity to play and learn in the best environment possible.

Larry Reader has managed in the adult softball program, serving on the Softball Rules and Protest Committee for three years and has managed in the youth baseball program for eight years. He managed the Niedringhaus Methodist softball team for eight years.

Ricardo Buckingham has served as an assistant manager for Jacobson's Women's Softball team and was on the original Rules and Protest Committee that developed the rules for the Ponytail Softball League. He has managed a team in the Ponytail League since it began in 1987.

Terry McCormick started in the adult softball program in 1977. He took over sponsoring and managing the Namedo Valley team in the Women's 6A league in 1979 and is still active with that team.

Guest speakers were Bill Davis of Channel 2 and Dal Maxwell of the Cardinals. Jerry's Catering and Catering supplied the meal, along with National Food Store (dessert) and Rellie Farms (table decorations).

Attendance prizes were donated by Kovach Candy Co., Jim Shepard of A.S.J. Custom Printing, Earl's Sporting Goods, Johnny Mac Sporting Goods, Curt Smith Sporting Goods and the Alton Food Center.

Jake Hinterser certainly isn't new to hockey, but this is a little different experience for him.

Hinterser is the new coach of the Warriors, who opened the season Saturday against Webster Groves. Until now, Hinterser had mostly coached players from approximately the ages 9-15. Now he moves on to the next level.

"I know of these kids, but this is the first I've actually worked with," said Hinterser on Wednesday as the team began its fifth practice session. "It looks like we have good speed and we can handle the puck."

Food

Strike up the band for chocolate treats

Celebrate a concert or other occasion—musical or not—with creamy milk chocolate desserts. Even though these desserts look like they match a formal event, they are easy to prepare with just a few ingredients. The result is homemade goodness and enough time for the cook to make the opening curtain. Chocolate bars give the cakes homemade goodness and provide a creamy, slightly caramel flavor that will earn applause.

Grand finale cheesecake

Almond crust

In large bowl, beat cream cheese until fluffy. Stir together sugar, cocoa and salt. Blend into cream cheese mixture. Add eggs and vanilla. Blend well. Add melted chocolate. Beat until just blended.

Four into Almond Crust. Bake 35 to 40 minutes at 325° until almost set. Remove from oven to wire rack. With knife, loosen cake from side of pan. Cool completely.

Remove side of pan. Cover. Refrigerate.

Garnish with whipped cream. Store, covered, in refrigerator.

Strainer does not replace fine sifter

Flour is pre-sifted, so there is no need to sift, even for old recipes, according to manufacturers. However, it is a good idea to stir up the flour a little to help aerate it before measuring. If sifting still is preferred, only a sifter or a strainer with holes smaller than 1/16 inch can be used. Most strainers have larger holes and will not produce sifted flour.

African arts festival planned

An African arts festival showcasing diverse cultures of African peoples will be held Nov. 21-24 at various St. Louis city and county locations. The festival, a premiere event, will highlight African art forms through dance, music, theater, films, poetry, food, textiles and visual art. Most of the festival events are free.

As part of the festival, a marketplace featuring demonstrations of African hair-braiding techniques, dressmaking and food preparations, will be open Nov. 22-24 at The Sheldon, 3648 Washington Ave. Among the other festival events are a Nov. 22 African dance concert, with a performance by Nigerian master drummer Babatundé Olatunji and his Drums of Passion, and a Nov. 23 performance by master drummer Obo Addy. Both concerts will be held at The Sheldon.

Also scheduled are a Nov. 23 poetry reading and slide presentation, titled "What Shall I Tell My Children Who Are Black?" by poet Margaret Burroughs, a Nov. 24 African Fashion Extravaganza and various children's events to be held Nov. 22 and 24. Burroughs' presentation, based on her poem of the same name, will be held at St. Louis University, while the children's activities will be held at The Sheldon. The African Fashion Extravaganza will be held on the campus of Washington University at Holmes' lounge.

The festival is sponsored by the Washington University African Arts Festival Committee. The festival is being held in conjunction with the 34th annual meeting of the African Studies Association (ASA).
